Janet Cox

I became an associate member of the Board of Governors in 2014. Having lived in Syresham for nearly 8 years it is great to be able to give something back to the village by supporting the school and the wider community. I started my career as a chef, but soon realised that I wanted to move into a more technical field. After qualifying as an Environmental Health Officer, I worked in Local Government for several years, before moving to the private sector and working in safety consultancy for just over 10 years. For the last three years I have worked for a large quick service restaurant company which has over 850 restaurants in the UK, heading up the health, safety and environment function. I am passionate about my area of expertise and keen to bring a pragmatic approach and dispel the urban myths which are often linked to health and safety. I am looking forward to working as part of team who are passionate about ensuring that children at the school achieve their full potential.
