

What a lovely week we have had reading stories to each other, listening to stories read by members of our family and as an extra treat some of us have been lucky enough to have teachers read a story while at home in bed via seesaw! This week we have also begun a revamp of the library, that we hope you will see develop over the next few weeks, as well as adding more reading/working areas around school as we all continue to enjoy listening to and reading different books and magazines. All of the classes have enjoyed cooking a book with creations of jam tarts, the Gruffalo's nobbly knees, Cat-in-the-Hat fruit kebabs, a plate of soil with engine oil (squiggy chocolate cake) and Chocky Willie Wonka! Thank you to all of the children (and parents!) who have brought a story in a jar into school this week, there are some very creative and wonderful jars that are great fun to look at. Please remember that all jars must be in on Monday, ready for the display to be opened to families at 3.30. Please take the time to come in and look, you won't be disappointed!

Next week promises to be equally as busy and packed with fun and learning as we embark on Science week! Tuesday sees all of the school out on a trip to the Sealife centre and Lego Discovery Centre with the rest of the week being as exciting. We have an early start for the trip, please can children be in school by 8:30am so we can get on the coach as soon as it arrives. We will be returning at about 4:15pm. To help with science experiments please could we ask children to bring in plastic bags and bottles (thin and squeezable!). Although Nursery will not be coming with us on the trip, they will be involved in the week of science and we can't wait to get started.

I have seen an increase this week in the number of parents who have connected with seesaw, however I am aware that we have a large majority of mums connected and I would like to encourage any Dads that are not yet signed up, to do so. It is a fantastic way to see what your child is getting up to at school, as well as keeping track of their achievements in lessons. If anyone would like help in signing up please come in and see your class teacher.

The Friends are busy planning the DIY SOS weekend and would like to thank everyone who has signed up so far. However we are in need of some more help. If you or any family members are able to join us on the 23rd March, even if you could help for just a few hours, we would be bvery grateful and you would really make a big difference to our workforce!

Please remember to bring your bags of old clothes to recycle on Monday 11th March. This event has been organised by the School Council and they are hoping that everyone will participate. The council have also organised two more events this term:

- House Quiz for the children after school next Friday 15th March
- Red Nose Day Mufti also 15th March

There are posters up in school advertising these events and a ticket request form has been sent home today for the quiz next Friday.

We will be holding parent/teacher meetings in the week beginning 25th March. Letters have been sent home today with a reply slip. Please make sure you book your meeting time early to avoid any disappointments.

I am writing this newsletter while planning my outfit for tonight's disco! Children, I hope that you all have a fantastic time!! Mums and Dads, good luck!

HAPPY INTERNATIONAL WOMENS DAY LADIES!

Have a lovely weekend!
